Independent Accountants' Report

Board of Directors
K-One Investment Company, Inc.
Fort Smith, Arkansas

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial condition (pages 2 to 5) of K-One Investment Company, Inc. as of December 31, 2003, and the related income statement (pages 6 and 7), changes in ownership equity (page 13), and cash flows (page 17) for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of K-One Investment Company, Inc. as of December 31, 2003, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming an opinion on the basic financial statements taken as a whole. The information contained on pages 10 through 13 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the audit of the basic financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole.

December 31, 2003

Note 1: Nature of Operations and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Nature of Operations

The Company's revenues are predominately earned from underwriting fees and commissions from Regulation A and Regulation D public and private offerings. Underwritings are provided primarily for corporate real estate ventures throughout California, Texas, Colorado and Arkansas. The Company has unsecured accounts receivable for revenues earned.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost or fair market value at the date of contribution for contributed assets. Depreciation is computed using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of each asset.

Income Taxes

Deferred tax liabilities and assets are recognized for the tax effects of differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities. A valuation allowance is established to reduce deferred tax assets if it is more likely than not that a deferred tax asset will not be realized.

Self Insurance

The Company has elected to self-insure all insurable risks. Costs resulting from losses are charged to income when incurred.

Increase (decrease) resulting from:
Changes in deferred tax asset valuation allowance	(3,641)
Other	826
Actual tax benefit	$ 0

As of December 31, 2003, the Company had approximately $474 of general business credits available to offset future federal income taxes. The credits have no expiration date. The Company also has unused operating loss carryforwards of $18,423 which expire between 2006 and 2022.

Note 3: Related Party Transactions

The Company received $1,000 in revenues from an officer and stockholder during 2003.

The Company operates out of an affiliate's office which is owned by an officer and shareholder of the Company. The Company paid $1,178 in expense reimbursements to the affiliate during 2003. In addition, the Company paid $17,863 in commissions and $7,500 in directors' fees to its stockholders.

K-One Investment Company, Inc.

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2003

Note 4: Net Capital Requirements

The Company is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (rule 15c3-1), which requires the maintenance of minimum net capital. At December 31, 2003, the Company had net capital based on this rule of $19,596, which was in excess of its required net capital of $5,000.

Note 5: Net Capital Reconciliation

Net capital on initially filed FOCUS report	$ 17,615
Adjusting for over accrued regulatory fees	2,496
Adjusting for transaction fees not recorded	(515)
Net capital per audited FOCUS report	$ 19,596

Note 6: Significant Estimates and Concentrations

Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require disclosure of certain significant estimates and current vulnerabilities due to certain concentrations. Those matters include the following:

Self Insurance

The Company has elected to insure all insurable risks. Provisions for losses expected under these programs are recorded based upon the Company's estimates of the aggregate liability for claims incurred. As of the date of these financial statements, the Company does not expect to incur any losses pertaining to these risks. No losses have been accrued. It is reasonably possible that this estimate could change materially in the near term.

Major Customers

Substantially, all of the Company's revenues are earned from underwriting fees and commissions from Regulation A and Regulation D public and private offerings. There are a limited number of available offerings. Ninety-one percent of the Company's 2003 revenues were earned from one unrelated customer.

Independent Auditor's Report on Internal Control Required by SEC Rule 17a-5

Board of Directors
K-One Investment Company, Inc.
Fort Smith, Arkansas

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of K-One Investment Company, Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2003, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g), in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

- (a) Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
- (b) Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
- (c) Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under section 8 of Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted the following matter involving the control environment, accounting system and control activities and their operation that we consider to be a material weakness as defined above. This condition was considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of the procedures to be performed in our audit of the financial statements of K-One Investment Company, Inc. for the year ended December 31, 2003, and this report does not affect our report thereon dated February 6, 2004.

The Company's accounting functions are performed by a single employee. These duties include receipt and deposit of funds; preparing, signing and recording of checks; maintaining the general ledger and bank account reconciliations.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2003, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers, and other regulatory agencies that rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Independent Accountants' Report

Board of Directors
K-One Investment Company, Inc.
Fort Smith, Arkansas

We have audited the accompanying balance sheets of K-One Investment Company, Inc. as of December 31, 2003 and 2002, and the related statements of income, stockholders' equity and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of K-One Investment Company, Inc. as of December 31, 2003 and 2002, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Note 6: Significant Estimates and Concentrations

Accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America require disclosure of certain significant estimates and current vulnerabilities due to certain concentrations. Those matters include the following:

Self Insurance

The Company has elected to insure all insurable risks. Provisions for losses expected under these programs are recorded based upon the Company's estimates of the aggregate liability for claims incurred. As of the date of these financial statements, the Company does not expect to incur any losses pertaining to these risks. No losses have been accrued. It is reasonably possible that this estimate could change materially in the near term.

Major Customers

Substantially, all of the Company's revenues are earned from underwriting fees and commissions from Regulation D private offerings. There are a limited number of available offerings. Ninety-one percent of the Company's 2003 revenues were earned from one unrelated customer, while 100% of its 2002 revenues were earned from one affiliated company.
